A Hanover youth who led state police and a New Oxford "posse" a chase over the back roads of Oxford and Conewago townships Saturday night before he was "captured" at 10:30 p. m. near Conewago chapel, was fined $50 by Justice of the Peace Claude S. Straley, New Oxford.

Eugene D. Rank, 19, of Moul avenue extended, Hanover, was charged with reckless driving and failing to stop at the scene of an accident. He was fined $25 and costs on each charge, and released on his own recognizance, on the promise of his employer to pay the fines. Rank had pleaded guilty to the charges.

Rank, another youth and two girl companions were driving west through New Oxford on the Lincoln highway Saturday night when Rank, the driver of the car, ran into the curb on the north side of the street near the Kohler Mill road intersection, struck a Metropolitan-Edison electric pole, and collided with the rear of an Aero Oil company truck parked near the home of its driver, John Summers.

Car Abandoned
The car, according to Chief of Police Anton E. Maaske, of New Oxford, then careened against the curb on the south side of the street, and at the top of the hill west of New Oxford struck several trees and a culvert.

Maaske said it was learned that Rank had been drinking in Hanover, and that a broken wine bottle was found where the car hit the oil truck.

State police were called, and a number of New Oxford residents, in their automobiles, joined the chase. Rank and his male companion were apprehended trying to thumb rides, after abandoning the automobile. Police said the radiator had been damaged and the water lost, in addition to other damage, estimated at $250. The girl companions had left the car before it was abandoned, police said. Damage to the oil truck was estimated at $100.

ARREST MAN IN "SHOES" RACKET

Borough police said today that a man who collected money from at least two Gettysburg residents last November to have baby shoes bronzed and never "made good" on the offer, was in jail at Hagerstown, Md., on a false pretense charge.

H. E. White, Jr., 32, no address given, came to Gettysburg November 26, according to police. He collected $12 from M. I. Bergdale, 22 York street, and $5 from Eugene Johnson, of the same address.

To Bergdale he gave the address of the "Plasco Arts company" of Kansas City, Mo., and told Bergdale to mail the shoes there. Bergdale did, and that was the last he ever heard of the shoes, police said. Johnson also heard no more after paying his $5.

Police said White operated also in Chambersburg, Waynesboro and other towns in Franklin county. At Hagerstown, he was committed to jail in default of $1,500 bail Saturday.

Local police obtained a warrant from Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, and if White is later returned to Franklin county, a detainer will be filed against him.

WEAKNESS OF COMMUNISM IS CITED IN TALK

Failure of the Russian government to understand the human desire for freedom was described as one of the weaknesses of communism by Capt. B. D. Locher, Carlisle Barracks, in a talk given Sunday evening at the regular meeting of the Men of Christ Church in the Sunday school rooms of that church.

Captain Locher, a graduate of New York university majoring in international relations and journalism, is an instructor in Russian geopolitics at the Armed Forces Information and Education school at Carlisle. During World War II he was a public relations officer in the Pacific.

He described strong points of Russian policy and reasons for its success in conquering half the world. "It is of a revolutionary nature; it is able to take advantages of weakness and unrest in rest of the world; its foreign activities are a natural projection of its domestic policy and the tolerance of its opponents," the speaker said.

Lists Weaknesses

Its weaknesses, he said, are its failure to understand the human desire for freedom, its reliance on temporary unrest and its reliance on artificial means, such as the iron curtain, to keep its subjects under control.

The iron curtain, he said, is an apparatus designed to maintain "purity" internally, and to keep external forces from learning the truth of conditions inside the Soviet Union.

Sunday evening's meeting began with a dessert served by Shetter's catering service. Jerome Alexis, chaplain of the organization, led the devotional period. President Harvey Smith presided at a business meeting at which the group decided to hold its May meeting in the form of a ladies' night at which new members will be introduced.

Col. Thomas E. Paddy, of the program committee, introduced the speaker for the evening.

COUNTY LIBRARY SUNDAY FEATURE

"Large residences and small churches have been converted into public libraries, but perhaps only Adams county, Pennsylvania, has thus adapted its ancient jail," says an article on the Adams County Free library in "Today," the magazine section of the Sunday Philadelphia Inquirer. It was written by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, former president of the library board.

"Where formerly children raced to catch a glimpse of a man struggling in the hands of police, their descendants run to get story-books," Mrs. Lewars' article continues. "Once the sheriff drove his wagon into the South Mountains to bring in offenders; now the county library bookmobile 'Red Wing' carries books to remote areas."

With the article is a recent exterior view of the jail, showing the bookmobile parked in the street. In the picture are Mrs. Gladys Weiland, part time assistant, and Mrs. William H. Snyder, librarian, standing on the steps, and in the foreground by the bookmobile its driver, Harold Green, and Miss Dorothy H. Wehler, library assistant. Another picture shows Miss Wehler at the desk in the main reading room.

An interior view showed the library in use. O. H. Benson, first president of the library, and Miss Anna Farran, former librarian, appeared in that photo.

TRACTOR FIRES SHED AND BARN IS DESTROYED

Fire, said to have been started by the backfire of a tractor, destroyed the tractor, a concrete block and frame barn and adjoining shed at the farm of J. H. McCurry, Aspers R. D., at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The loss was estimated by McCurry at $4,000. He said that the barn and the articles in it were not covered by insurance. The barn had been built about two years ago. McCurry bought the farm a year ago.

York Springs, Biglerville and Gettysburg firemen responded to the alarm. The Gettysburg fire company was turned back, however, before it reached the scene of the conflagration, when firemen on the scene discovered there was no need for further apparatus.

Lack of water hampered firemen, preventing any serious effort to save the barn. Composition siding on the house nearby melted from the heat from the blazing barn, but a bucket brigade operated prior to arrival of the York Springs fire company to protect the house. The York Springs and Biglerville companies then used booster tanks to wet down the house and surrounding outbuildings.

Lost in the barn fire were 150 bushels of corn, carpenter tools and equipment and the tractor, Biglerville firemen said.

The tractor had been purchased second hand Friday. The vehicle backfired while McCurry was backing a load of wood into the shed beside the barn. The tractor caught fire and ignited the shed which in turn set the 50x60 foot, two-story barn on fire. The heat melted the siding from the second floor at the end of the house. The siding had been placed about a month ago. The farm, located about four miles, northeast Biglerville, was formerly owned by James Heller.

REDS FORCING AMERICANS OUT OF EAST EUROPE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, March 6 (AP) — The United States is being forced into a slow retreat from Russian-dominated eastern Europe by Communist methods ranging from expulsion of Americans to the torture of their native employees.

This fact stood out today from a week-end of sensational developments—which included a claim by the State department that it has finally solved the "mysterious enigmas" of how Red police obtain confessions from their innocent victims.

Here are the events bearing on the critical eastern European front of the cold war up to today:

7. In Washington, the State department made public the dramatic story of Michael Shipkov, 39-year-old Bulgarian translator who went through a Communist police torture chamber last August and lived to tell his American friends what happened. Shipkov, recaptured by the Reds, is presumed to be either dead or utterly doomed; he had requested that if his "confession" was ever used against him the affidavit repudiating it should also be made public.

Edging Americans Out
2. At Budapest the Hungarian government—possibly in consultation with Moscow—was looking for a new way to reduce the staff of the American legation there. The United States on Saturday rejected a Hungarian request that the staff be reduced voluntarily on the ground that it is a spy center. At the same time, the State department noted that Hungary can force American diplomats out if it wants to, by declaring them "personally unacceptable."

3. From Prague came an American embassy announcement that Czechoslovakia soon will order all U. S. missionaries to leave the country. Similar action is expected against British, French and other foreign teachers who might have a non-Communist point of view.

4. In Moscow the American embassy staff was adjusting to a heavy increase in operating costs, which after July 1 will go up 100 per cent. In revaluing the ruble last week, the Kremlin knocked out the eight-to-the-dollar special rate for diplomats, cutting the exchange to six-to-one on March 1 and to four-to-one on July 1. There is a growing belief among State department officials that the Russians hope the increased cost—roughly from $900,000 to $1,800,000 for the U. S. embassy—will cause a cut in Western diplomatic staffs there.

SCHEDULE 4-H

that last year 280 boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H clubs throughout the county. A goal of 300 has been set for the coming year.

List Local Leaders
Noting that the interest of parents and local leaders contributes much to the 4-H club program in Adams county, Dunmire and Miss Mickey listed the local leaders who served last year, many of whom are scheduled to act in the same capacity again this year.

MISSIONARY TO MEXICO SPEAKS

Miss Kathryn Keller, Lutheran missionary on a year's furlough from Mexico, presented an illustrated lecture Sunday evening in the Christ Lutheran church, Aspers. Miss Keller spoke of her chief work as a missionary in Mexico, which is the translation of the Bible into the native tongue of an Indian tribe there. She explained that the task of such a translation is threefold. First, she said one must make friends with the natives and learn their language. Then a suitable alphabet and dictionary must be compiled after which the translation can be made and corrected. Then the natives themselves must be taught how to read so that they can profit by the translation.

Miss Keller presented slides showing the contrasting beauties of Mexico and characteristics of native tribes. These were followed by slides showing the life and environment of the natives among whom she works. Other slides showed the work of the missionaries in bringing the story of the Bible to these people.

In the National Assembly, meanwhile, the government this morning shut off a 72-hour-old Red filibuster aimed at killing the anti-sabotage bill.

Bullet Grapplers Take Middle Atlantic Title For 2nd Year; Riegel Voted As Outstanding

Coach Clyde Cole's Gettysburg college wrestling team closed its most successful season in history Saturday by winning the Middle Atlantic States wrestling championship for the second successive year.

The Bullets compiled 33 points in gaining the title. Other team scores were: Swarthmore, 23; Haverford, 19; Bucknell, 16; Delaware, 14; Ursinus, 14; Muhlenberg, 10, and Lafayette, 9.

Russ Riegel, 155, won his fourth straight tournament title by gaining a 4-1 decision in the final Saturday night over Rupert Bing, Lafayette. Riegel was also named as the outstanding wrestler of the tournament, having gained similar honors in 1947. The Bullet also lost but one match during his entire collegiate career.

Gettysburg's four finalists left little doubt as to their ability as they took command in each bout and were clearly the superior of their opponents.

Johnny Loose, 121; Jimmy Woods, 128; Dick Sassman, 136, and Riegel all won their final matches by decisions.

Sassman's work in the tournament was particularly noteworthy. On Friday when he was entering the field house he fell on the steps severely bruising and lacerating his nose and lips. He was taken to the infirmary, returned to win his preliminary match Friday evening, and then re-entered the infirmary to remain there until the semi-finals and finals. In winning over Ben Fusaro, Swarthmore, in the final, he handed Fusaro his first defeat of the year.

In the consolation bouts Saturday evening Fred Hoenninger, 145, of the Bullets, lost to Miller, Ursinus, 6-0; Soult, 165, lost to Mamary, Lafayette, 5-0; Bud Diehl, 175, won from Evans, Muhlenberg, in the preliminary and then defaulted to Paris, Delaware, due to an injury; Jack Hershberger, heavyweight, won over Hill, Swarthmore, by default in the preliminary and won from Schell, Muhlenberg, 9-3 in the final consolation.

During the season the Bullets won nine dual affairs, losing only to Princeton and Franklin and Marshall.

Gettysburg's title was its fourth since 1936. Jeffery Griest, son of Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, who gained the finals in the 175-pound division for Swarthmore, lost to Bill Rodewald, Haverford, in the championship affair on a referee's decision after a particularly close affair. Rodewald won the 175 division crown in 1949.

Final summaries:
121-pound class—John Loose, Gettysburg, won by decision over Marshall Goulding, Bucknell, 4-2.

128-pound class—Jim Wood, Gettysburg, decision over John Dodge, Haverford, 6-3.

MULES TROUCE BULLETS 76-49; FRESHMEN LOSE

Gettysburg college's in-an-out basketball team was definitely out Saturday night and put on a poor performance as it lost to Muhlenberg, 76-42, before 2,500 people at Allentown Catholic high school's Rockne Hall Saturday night.

The Bullet varsity was unable to click and failed to retrieve the ball off the boards. All Gettysburg's points while the varsity was in the game were recorded on long set shots—two each by Ross Sachs and Hank Belber, and one by Bob O'Brien.

The Allentown fans who turned out to see Muhlenberg finish its home season in glorious fashion roared their approval as the Mules, shooting with great accuracy, went ahead 5-0 on field goals by Al Saemmer and Dick McGee and a free throw by McGee. Unable to cope with the hard-running, fast-shooting Mules, Gettysburg could salvage only 11 points in the first 15 minutes.

With the score 34-11 and five minutes of the first half remaining, Coach Hen Bream inserted his sophomore five. By the end of the half the count was 38-17.

Sophs Take Over
For the remainder of the game until the closing minutes of the second half, the Bullet sophomores held the highly-touted Allentown five on fairly even terms.

Flashing an effectual attack, Muhlenberg toyed with Gettysburg throughout much of the game. The difference in score could have been much greater had the Mules so desired.

It was announced at halftime that Mary Jaffe, the high-scoring Brooklyn cager, had won the award as Muhlenberg's most valuable player during the current season. Opponent coaches, sports writers and publicity men made the selection.

As Saemmer, the Mule's diminutive play-maker, received a position on the Little All-American second team, according to an announcement. Ace McCann, LaSalle's play-maker, also won a position on the same mythical team.

Final Games
Gettysburg now has a record of 10 wins against 12 reverses. On Tuesday the Bullets play Western Maryland at Westminster and finish their campaign Thursday night by meeting F. and M. here.

The college freshmen sustained a 68-54 loss in the preliminary game, the defeat halting a four-game winning streak for Coach Johnny Yovosin's cagers.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

True to character, March came in like a "blustering rafter." The storm of wind on Friday was unusually severe, and did considerable damage, by unroofing buildings and prostrating fences, etc., in all this region of country. On Sunday we had a considerable fall of snow; and the cold on Monday morning would do honor to mid-winter.

We give a correct copy of Mr. Thaddeus Stevens' speech in the House of Representatives on the Slavery question. Mr. Stevens, says the North American, always speaks boldly, eloquently and powerfully, and his present effort is remarkable for condensation, vigor, point and brilliancy. However much, under ordinary circumstances, we might regret the agitation of the exciting topic to which he mainly addressed himself, in view of the insane and treasonable exhibitions which have been made by Southern members since the opening of the present Congress, we admire and thank him for the truthful, masterly and manly exposition he has produced, and we recommend his speech to the earnest attention of all who, in this crisis, desire to save the country from the deplorable ills which could not fail to follow any further extension of an institution, which has already brought upon us so many troubles.

The mail stage was upset three times between Emmitsburg and Frederick during the storm of Friday.

On Monday, Mr. Smyser presented a petition asking for the passage of a law for the abolition of punishment by death.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
On Saturday, the 27th ult., there was a re-union of the family of Mr. Harvey D. Wattles, of this place, to celebrate his 70th birthday.

Tramps have been usually numerous this winter. On Friday a man and woman of Irish brogue made a sensation on our streets, both suffering from the influence of bad whiskey. The woman was large, burly, free and easy, and raised quite a breeze by her defiant bearing. Being denied aid at Mr. Haden's jewelry store, she deliberately broke one of the large glasses in the door, and seemed to regard herself as the heroine of the hour in the excitement which followed, attracting quite a large crowd. Constable Noel spoiled the fun by committing her to jail under a warrant issued by Justice Cover.

Married: Albert-Brough—On the 4th inst., in York Springs, by Rev. S. E. Heddes, Mr. Abraham P. Albert, of York county, to Miss Hannah M. Brough, of York Springs.

Mr. George Stock, tobaccoist, of this place, kept a record of "tramps" who called at his shop to beg tobacco between the 21st of December and the 1st of March. The sum total was 293.

Rev. Dr. Steck, pastor elect, will fill the pulpit of St. James church on next Sabbath morning and evening. He expects to move to Gettysburg about the first of April.

Mr. Z. T. Flaharty, aged 24 years, formerly of this place, died at Logansport, on the 10th ult., from injuries received coupling cars on a freight train on the 30th of January last.

Mr. Francis Rosensteel has leased the Battlefield Hotel to take possession on the 1st of April.

Help the Poor: The severity of the winter and the scarcity of work have caused great want and suffering in many families in our community. Ladies of the town, deeply sympathizing with these suffering families, have placed a box at Schick's corner, to receive contributions for their relief. Mr. J. L. Schick will have the care of this box and remove it every evening.

The Ladies will personally attend to the distribution of the donations to the needy, to the best of their judgment.

—Many Ladies

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

These initials—A.A.—stand for one of the most remarkable organizations I know anything about, and they stand for Alcoholics Anonymous. It came about through the efforts of one who had about reached the end of despair—an alcoholic, who in endeavoring to save another, saved himself, and initiated a movement that has become world-wide—working silently, effectively, and gloriously in redeeming others through prayer and companionship.

A reader of these talks has written to me about the experience that he had in arresting his life and awakening him to one of one of sobriety, happiness and usefulness. He told me how he came to himself, and gained emancipation through this great organization, which daily is counting its cures in thousands all over the world, bringing hope where only despair existed, and arming each with new faith and courage.

Said this man: "I began as a social drinker, finally ending as an alcoholic. I felt that I was lost—but with no place to go I fought alone. Treatments, cures were of no avail. My job, my home, my self-respect gone—I reached bottom. Then Alcoholics Anonymous came into my life, and through its members, its program, and the help of God, I came to myself. In my own redemption I found myself saving others."

That is the secret of the success of this wonderful movement. In saving oneself, others are saved, and so the work goes on. Confidence is created. Friendly counsel is respected. The members of this organization meet and give courage to one another. Their meeting places are to be found all over the land. Each man and woman becomes an agency unto themselves. Through mutual encouragement and prayer, new light and hope are inspired.

In most of our great cities, I believe, there are places where Alcoholics Anonymous have their meetings, and where they become a refuge for anyone willing to arise, and again to enter a life of sobriety and usefulness. How God must bless that one who initiated this noble and far-reaching organization, as well as everyone newly created through it!

NEW, COLORFUL ROSE VARIETIES ARE AVAILABLE

With several new and beautiful roses available, gardeners can look forward to an exciting and rewarding season in 1950. What is more, these new introductions will give quick results. Hybrid teas and floribundas planted in late March or April will be in full bloom by June.

The most famous newcomers are the All-America Rose Selections for 1950, which will bring novelty and color to gardens in every section of the country during the coming season. The A. A. R. S. winners are: Fashion, a floribunda of coral pink overlaid with gold, a color unique among roses; Mission Bells, a salmon-colored hybrid tea; Capistrano, a hybrid tea of soft rose pink, and Sutter's Gold, a golden yellow hybrid tea with crimson flashing.

While the rose gardener in the colder regions cannot actively pursue his hobby during the winter months, he can spend many a profitable hour studying and planning for attractive layout and unique color combination. Spring catalogues depict roses to fit every growing condition and personal taste.

The All-America system has proved invaluable to the amateur and the experienced rosarian alike. Varieties marked by the A. A. R. S. symbol have demonstrated their exceptional qualities over a two-year testing period in trial gardens throughout the country.

In addition to the 1950 winners, there are other All-America varieties which have caught the popular fancy through their striking color, novelty and hardy characteristics. An unusually striking rose is Forty-Niner, an award winner in 1949, which combines a contrast of deep red and golden yellow. Tallyho, the other 1949 selection, is a subtle two-tone beauty of pink and red.

Indoor Planting Time Is Here

This is a good time to start corns of tuberous-rooted begonias. Plant them in shallow boxes filled with peatmoss. Make sure they are placed in the correct, upright position; the rounded part is the base and the concave side is the top. Keep them in a temperature of 65 degrees.

Early vegetables like the tomato, eggplant, cauliflower, early cabbage and broccoli may be started indoors if facilities are available. Flower seeds suitable for indoor sowing now are gailardia, delphinium, salvia, Vinca rosea, lobelia, dahlia, annual campanula, snapdragon, verbena, heliotrope, lantana and torenia.

It is important to sow seeds thinly. Fine seeds need no covering, but larger ones should be covered about twice as deep as their smallest diameter. Place a pane of glass over the container after sowing to create a humid atmosphere around the seeds and to prevent sudden temperature changes. As most seeds germinate more rapidly in the dark, place several thicknesses of newspaper over the glass pane, but as soon as seedlings appear uncover the seed pan.

Sterilizing the soil as well as the seeds before sowing is advisable to obtain best results. If new pots are used in seed sowing, be sure they are soaked in clean water for a few days to eliminate any harmful products. Scrub old seed pans to remove all dirt and scum.

Spring and winter wheat production in Utah in 1949 reached a new record of 9,440,000 bushels.

Blackberries Easy To Grow

Because the native wild blackberry is often found growing in abandoned fields where the soil is poor and thin, growers may easily fall into the error of thinking the improved cultivated varieties likewise do well on poor ground. But this is far from the truth. Few other plants man cultivates for food pay bigger dividends for a well balanced, deeply fertile and well drained loam. In such a soil environment improved blackberries stand almost unchallenged as one of the most consistently productive fruits for marketing and home use to can, preserve, make jams and jellies, unexcelled pies, and

You can begin feeding Kaff-A to calves at 4 days of age and completely wean them from whole milk by the tenth. That's how to convince yourself of the economy of raising your own calves on your farm by feeding Kaff-A.

It's simple... yes, easy to feed Kaff-A. Just dilute one to nine with water... feed as you would whole milk. Each 25-lb. pail of Kaff-A you feed helps save up to 250 pounds of whole milk.

If you're feeding milk to any calf... or if you question the economy of raising calves on your farm... then begin feeding Kaff-A now. Ask your feed dealer for a pail today.

When grown in deeply fertile soils, cultivated blackberry plants sometimes yield as many as 5,000 quarts per acre. Under normal farm conditions yields usually average around 2,000 to 2,400 quarts per acre. Persons who observe that blackberries have been retailing around 30 to 50 cents a quart in city markets in recent years may easily compute the remarkable revenue returns per acre possible from this fruit.

To grow blackberries for marketing brings into focus several controlling factors. First, the grower should live on or near a hard-surfaced, highly traveled highway if he intends to sell his crop at a roadside stand. Or if he plans to market the fruit in town or city, he should be located where it is not necessary to transport the fruit over rough roads to reach markets. Too, this and other bramble fruits bring higher prices when sold in consumer markets at least 50 to 100 miles north of the grower. In other words, by selling such crops northward, the grower gains the seasonal advantage of finding his market without the competition of crops grown near where he sells. Another factor to consider in growing strawberries and bramble fruits is that of labor.

Many large commercial growers of small fruits engage labor from nearby villages and small towns, paying workers on a piece (per quart) basis. In many instances it is necessary to haul workers from their homes to the field and return or house them temporarily during the harvest season.

An excellent way for the individual farmer or gardener to gain advantage of the excellent market demands for bramble fruits is to grow

NEW CONTRACT SENDS MINERS BACK TO PITS

By STERLING F. GREEN Washington, March, 6 (AP)—The signing of a new contract sent soft coal miners swarming back to the pits today—ending a serious threat to the nation's economy and promising peace in the coal fields for months to come.

For the miners, the prize they won was a $140 daily "package" per man, plus a reasonable assurance of fairly steady work for at least a year and perhaps until the middle of 1952. For the operators, it meant getting back into business. For the public the settlement meant relief from a four-week strike, rescue from a looming industrial breakdown, and some assurance of stability in what President Truman has called "a sick industry," plus higher coal bills.

Gas Pressure Like Rock in Stomach

One Gettysburg man stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a rock in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. His food would turn to gas. Recently he started taking CERTA-VIN and says the feeling like a rock in his stomach disappeared the second day. Now his food agrees with him, no more gas and he feels like a new man.

PUBLIC SALE Wednesday Evening March 8, 1950 At 7 P. M. The undersigned will offer at public sale at his former residence just off Route 34 midway between Idaville and Goodyear the following described real estate:

STERLING H. BLACK, R. 1, Gardners, Pa. Auct.: Slaybaugh, Clerk: Crum.

LARGE PUBLIC SALE TUESDAY, MARCH 14 12 O'clock

The undersigned having sold his farm will sell at public sale at his farm, on road midway between York Springs and Idaville, the following: Seventy Head Of Cattle 30 head dairy cattle, most of these have been vaccinated and blood tested; 40 head of feeding steers, 25 of these are Canadian cattle and 15 are Virginia cattle.

of a back-to-work order. There was a contract, there would be work. In many districts the jubilant miners have waived formal meetings and back-to-work votes. Until now they had defied orders to go back from both Lewis and the Federal Court.

Local officials hurried the movement by radio broadcasts in some towns. Maintenance men hustled back to sore pits before the ink was fairly dry. Some pits were ready by midnight to start pouring black energy into the fuel-starved economy. But it may be 10 days before all of an estimated 225,000 laid-off men in coal-dependent industries, such as railroads and steel, will be back on the job.

Peace in the anthracite industry seemed just ahead, too. Thus far futile talks in New York are being moved to Washington, probably on Tuesday. Now that the soft coal dispute is ended, an anthracite agreement may be achieved within the week, industry and union sources predicted.

The nearly 80,000 anthracite workers did not help the $22.00 soft coal strike. Their contract also expired last June 30.

A grim smile flickered over the grizzled face of the 70-year-old Lewis as he and the operators signed the bituminous contract under the glare of flash lamps in Washington's Hotel Statler.

The contract runs until June 30, 1952. But it may be canceled by either party on or after April, 1951, upon 30 days' notice.

Its Provisions It provides for: A $14.75 daily wage, an increase of 70 cents. Lewis had asked 90 cents. A 30-cent levy on each ton of coal to finance the UMW welfare fund. The pension payment formerly was 20 cents. Lewis had asked 35 cents. A union shop, subject to court ruling on its legality; an end to the "able and willing to work" clause under which miners have stopped work with impunity; and a limit of five days a year on the miners "memorial," or mourning, periods.

Lewis called the contract "A reasonable assurance that for a reasonable period of time the industry can abate its labor warfare and apply itself to the constructive problem of producing coal." George H. Love, chief operator spokesman, said the agreement "gives the industry its first real opportunity for stability in the last decade."

RUSSIA HOLDS ADVANTAGE IN SUDDEN ATTACK

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, March 6 (AP)—Here's a nice one to think about.
This country and Russia are spending billions on arms and bomb-making. So far as can be seen, they'll continue doing that.
In time both countries may have bombs big enough to wipe out whole cities, one bomb to a city.
Scientists say a hydrogen bomb can do just that. If there's a war, the one which attacks first will have the advantage.
The evidence, suppose Russia in a sneak attack was able in one night to come out Washington, New York, Chicago and Detroit.
After that our chances of winning the war, or even waging war very long, might not be good.
Under the constitution, only Congress can declare war. But, if we're reached at a point where Russians gathered to declare war the Congress would have plenty of warning and time to attack first.
In the past this arrangement—no war unless declared by the people's representatives in Congress—has worked all right. It was the democratic way, the backbone of this country's way of life.
Gives Reds Advantage
It saved the people from the danger of possibly sudden action by one man, the President, who otherwise might have been able to put the people into a war they didn't want.

But times have changed, as this story has tried to point out, because of the advantage that would go to the one who attacked first with hydrogen bombs.
Just because times have changed, this same democratic process, the wide open declaration of war by Congress, might in the next war mean the end of the republic by giving the enemy a chance to attack first.
What could be done to be sure we weren't attacked first? As commander-in-chief of the armed forces the President, if he thought the danger great enough, might try to save the country by ordering our bombers to start the war and attack Russia without waiting for congressional action.
Might Be Impeached
Yet, if he did so, he might be impeached by Congress. Whether that happened, of course, would depend upon what Congress and the people thought after the war started.
On the other hand: Suppose he knew an attack was coming but, through fear of impeachment, let it come, preferring to let Congress go through the comparatively slow and public process of declaring war.
In a case like that, it's possible he might be impeached for failing to take the necessary steps first—to save the nation, if any congressmen were left alive after the enemy attacked here.
If you think these questions are far-fetched, Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat, made a Senate speech in which, speaking of future

M'SHERRY BOY IN HOSPITAL

Baltimore, March 6 (AP)—A 13-year-old Rouserville, Pa., boy afflicted with a usually fatal disease is under observation of Johns Hopkins hospital specialists.
Melvin McSherry, Jr., has what bombs, he said:
"I need not tell you that these weapons impair in a most serious way the constitutional power of Congress to declare war. As a democracy we are incapable of launching the first surprise blow. It seems possible that this very democratic process, slow and wide open to the world, could mean an end to the republic since it would give an enemy time to attack first."
McMahon is head of Congress Atomic committee.

medical authorities call "cystic fibrosis of the pancreas," which caused continual chest infections. Medical men said yesterday children with the malady generally die before 14.
The Johns Hopkins doctors can't get at Melvin's "basic" disease so are fighting a by-product of his ailment with aureomycin. That's one of the recently-discovered drugs which attack infections.
Hopkins physicians pointed out the strategy of fighting the rare disease amounts to holding down the dangerous chest infections as long as possible and hope for research developments in the meantime which may enable doctors to get at the foot of the trouble.
Doctors have found Melvin's infections improved. He is scheduled to return for further checks in a month to six weeks.
The treatments are being paid for by sympathetic strangers. The Federation of Clubs of Franklin county have set up a $500 fund for medication. An unnamed benefactor gave the McSherry family several hundred dollars last fall when their financial means neared exhaustion.

Hungarian Request Is Rejected By U.S.
Washington, March 6 (AP)—The United States has rejected a Hungarian request that it consider reducing its diplomatic staff at Budapest. It also accused Communist Hungary of damaging relations between Hungary and the United States.

The Department announced that an American note was delivered by the Legation in Budapest to the Foreign Affairs ministry. It was a reply to a communist government note of Feb. 23 asking that United States consider slashing the legation rolls.
The Hungarian request was based on communist spy charges against the legation made during the recent trial of American businessman

Robert Vogeler. The United States again assailed those charges as "preposterous falsehoods."
Because of the nature of the charges against the legation staff, the American note said, the inquiries in the Hungarian note as to whether the United States would consider reducing its legation staff were "improper and irrelevant."
